Possible walking routes are determined each day by the walk leaders and may include:

Lulworth Cove – From Lulworth Cove we walk onto the military ranges with some of the area's most dramatic scenery. Walks explore the chalk downs above West Lulworth or visit the deserted village of Tyneham then follow the South West Coast Path onto the ranges. (Military ranges are not accessible some weeks.)

Corfe Castle to Studland – We start in Corfe Castle village or Kingston and follow the chalk ridge that runs along the Isle of Purbeck to the coast, with outstanding views in all directions, to Studland. Some walks go over Godlingstone Heath and along the beach or pass the chalk stacks of Old Harry en route to Studland.

Cerne Abbas – Circular walks in rural Dorset, starting from the viewpoint looking at the famous giant of Cerne Abbas. We visit the hamlet of Minterne Magna or the village of Buckland Newton, and finish our day in Cerne Abbas village. The harder walk follows part of the Wessex Ridgeway long-distance trail. The green and undulating rural Dorset countryside is straight out of a Hardy novel.

South Purbeck Coast – We pass Dancing Ledge, a popular spot for rock climbers, then join the South West Coast Path and walk the dramatic section to Swanage. Some walks begin further afield in Kingston and join the coast at Houns-tout cliff, passing Chapman's Pool, a tranquil haven beneath the cliffs, before reaching Swanage.

Durdle Door – We follow stages of the Dorset Coast Path along this dramatic section of the Jurassic Coast west of Lulworth, and walk back to Lulworth Cove via the iconic sea arch of Durdle Door. With its views of Durdle Door, Lulworth Cove, dramatic cliffs and crystalline sea, this is coastal walking at its very best.

Kingston to Corfe Castle – These walks start in the village of Kingston and head out to Swyre Head for spectacular views west towards Weymouth Bay, then diverge to follow different routes to Corfe Castle village. Corfe Castle is an 11th Century ruin on a hill above the town, and the village is home to a number of quaint pubs, or you may like to stop by the sweet shop, its shelves lined with colourful reminders of childhood.
