

SPAIN: MÁLAGA & COASTAL HINTERLAND MOUNTAIN BIKING

8-day / 7-nights centre-based GUIDED day tours based near the beach at Fuengirola

An active holiday in southern Spain, based in comfortable villa accommodation just a stroll from the beach near some of Spain's most popular Mediterranean holiday resorts. We offer transfers to guided mountain bike rides daily exploring the coast, hinterland and mountains, visiting lakes, forests or national parks.

The weather in this region of southern Spain is perfect all year round with an average of 300 sunny days a year. The most popular months for cycling are mid February until late June and then September until late November. July can reach 35°C or more and December/January can be sunny or rainy but never cold!

We provide accommodation in two villas each with 4 double bedrooms with air-conditioning in summer and heating during the winter. There is a private garden at the front, secure bike storage at the rear and a lounge area with English-language television, Internet, WiFi, a music system and a fully equipped kitchen.

Away from the tourist resorts we have some fantastic riding with hard-to-find flowing single-track, easy to moderate and technical or challenging riding sections. Some trails leave right from our villa doorstep, some a short distance away using two minibuses. The terrain is varied enough to offer unlimited off-road and single-track rides. And, here too we find some of the quietest country roads in Europe.

Suggested Itinerary:

These tours offer a large selection of routes to suit all bikers from beginners to expert down-hillers. Suggested itinerary is for beginner to intermediate level riders. Choice of routes will be decided by your guide depending on the group's skill level and interests. Most days we start with a minibus transfer to gain altitude up to 1000m and finish around sea level to get more of that grin factor for less effort.

Saturday: If you arrive before midday there will be time to get the bike ready and then have an afternoon ride round our local tracks. Arrive late afternoon at the latest although today there is nothing formal planned.

Sunday: A little bit of everything on a local cross-country track – scenic fire roads and some flowing singletrack through forests and great views of the surrounding mountains.

Monday: Start with a super fun cross-country trail with a short, steep climb to a long descent with switchbacks and undulations; then a choice of routes, one with some challenging technical sections. After lunch a fun descent to sea level where we can have a welcome beer or ice cream.

Tuesday: We drive up to a scenic viewpoint about 700m above sea level, followed by a winding descent to the bike park, where there is an opportunity to practice our skills on the pump track and jumps. Or, cut some laps on a beautiful track through the forest.

Wednesday: Free day to relax or rest away from the biking. Why not visit the historical city of Granada or Málaga or try a mountain walk, tennis, golf, surfing, horse riding, dolphin-watching on a yacht or perhaps just sunbathe by the pool or on the beach.

Thursday: Drive up above the mountain village of Mijas for the start of the ride 650m above sea level. A half-hour climb to start followed by a super long descent on single-track and paths to Mijas.

Friday: We drive to a forest near Alhaurin, a typical Andalusian 'white village', where there is loads of fun single track through the woods. There are several choices of trails here, from technical single-track descents to wide fire roads. After lunch you can shuttle a few laps of a technical downhill trail; ride the winding trail back to your accommodation; or, knock off and have a relaxing afternoon, perhaps with a cold beer or an ice cream;

Saturday: If you are leaving after 4.00pm we will have a morning ride around our local single tracks before the trip to Málaga airport for flight home.
