

GREECE: THE ISLAND OF CRETE

8-day / 7-night one-hotel based at Kolimbari GUIDED walking tour with a choice of walks daily

Discover the dramatic landscape and rich history of Crete, Greece's largest island, from your luxurious base at a resort in the western region. Kolimbari, the nearest settlement to Spilia Village, is a charming harbourside fishing town that remains relatively untouched by tourism. Beyond Kolimbari, the rugged Rodopos and Gramvousa peninsulas stretch north into the sea. Over a third of Crete's inhabitants reside in the bustling towns of Heraklion, Chania, and Rethymnon; the rest of the island is sparsely populated, with unspoilt villages and isolated hamlets.

Experience beautiful foothills and stunning coastlines; explore ancient Minoan heritage; conquer the dramatic Samaria Gorge; and follow shepherds' trails through olive groves to tranquil hillside villages.

A typical European centre-based walking holiday offers a choice of up to two guided walks each day. You choose the walk which best suits your interest and fitness level. The routes are selected by the walk leaders and are subject to change at their discretion.

Suggested itinerary:

Day 1: Arrival day. Plan to arrive at Spilia Village in time for dinner (ask about transfers from Chania airport).

Day 2: Rodopos Peninsula. This rocky peninsula covered is important for the passage of migratory and breeding birds such as eagles, vultures and falcons. We explore the spine of the peninsula on old goat paths and quiet dirt tracks, passing olive groves. On the easier walk there is the chance to visit the Gonias monastery, one of the best preserved monasteries on Crete.

Day 3: Sirikari and Polyrinia. Our route descends steeply into the deep gorge of Sirikari, then passes abandoned dwellings on a rocky path beneath high cliffs where eagles and vultures nest. At the end of the gorge, we ascend to the ancient village of Polyrinia where we can either finish the walk or continue along a ridge with great views then descend to the coast at Kissamos.

Day 4: Samaria Gorge. Experience the iconic 16km Samaria Gorge, descending from the Omalos Plateau to sea at Aghia Roumeli. It is the most difficult walk on this trip. Alternatively walk from Imbros, high in the White Mountains, and descend the narrow Imbros Gorge. We finish in Choria Sfakion, the capital of the region.

Day 5: Free day. Relax by the pool or the beach, or explore the vibrant Venetian city of Chania. The old town features narrow streets, shops, bars, and a bustling harbour, along with notable sights like the Venetian defences and indoor market.

Day 6: Milia and Topolia. We follow shepherds' trails through olive groves and beautiful wild countryside to sleepy hillside villages. The small village of Milia was used as a hideout by Cretan Resistance fighters during WWII and was then abandoned. In the 1990s the village's buildings were restored using traditional techniques and local stone and timber. It is now an eco-retreat in the mountains and has wonderful views of the surrounding forested slopes. Milia's taverna is a great spot to stop for a refreshing house-made lemonade or perhaps lunch.

Day 7: Snowy mountain villages. Trek through the Lefka Ori (White Mountains) occupying the centre of West Crete and are the main feature of the region. We follow quiet roads and shepherds' tracks with dramatic views of mountain villages in the distance, then, after a typical Greek meze-style lunch in a taverna we walk through orange trees and wooded valleys to Meskla.

Day 8: Departure Day. Tour arrangements end after breakfast at the hotel. Transfers to Chania airport are available at set times for extra cost - ask when making a reservation.
